

SURVEY STAMPS GETTYSBURG AS RICHER MARKET

(Special to the Times)

New York, July 14—On the basis of money earned in Gettysburg in 1950 and the amount spent in the local retail stores, the city takes its place as one of the richer markets of the United States. This is shown in the new, copyrighted survey of buying power, prepared by Sales Management, covering every section of the country.

The high scale of business activity in Gettysburg is indicated by the $14,241,000 in sales chalked up in the local stores. This figure was well over the city's quota. It represents .0101 percent of the nation's business—more than the .0047 percent that should be produced locally on the basis of population.

The chief factor in the bigger spending locally was the better earnings of Gettysburg families. The data shows that the 2,000 families in the city had a net disposable income, after taxes, of $8,158,000. It represented an average income, obtained by straight division, of $4,079 per family.

Trading Area Center

The figure is an arithmetical average, it is pointed out, and is higher than the median figure that will emerge later from the 1950 census, which took into account only individual incomes under $10,000.

The fact that the volume of sales locally is greater than the total income indicates that Gettysburg is the center of a large trading area.

A guide to the relative economic position of each community is given in the survey by a "quality of market" index. This compares the individual city's potential, based on population, income, sales and other factors, to that of the rest of the country. Gettysburg's index is placed at 128, or 28 percent above the general average.

Sour cherries were priced at 25 cents a quart. Early apples, Transparents, were 20 cents a quart, 35 cents a quarter peck and 65 cents a half peck.

Squash was on the market this morning for the first time. Small pattypans sold for ten cents a box, while larger ones were ten cents each. Yellow crooknecks were also ten cents each.

Green and yellow beans were in good supply, at 15 cents a quart box and 25 cents a quarter peck. Sugar peas, only a few available, were 25 cents a quart box. Beets were 15 cents a bunch; cabbage, six cents a pound; parsley, five cents a bunch; new, small potatoes, 15 cents a quart and 45 cents a half peck. Onions were ten cents a bunch.

JAP BEETLES ARE ABUNDANT

The post harvest (fifth cover) spray letter for sour cherries was sent out today by County Agent M. T. Hartman recommending a spray for both bearing and non-bearing trees to prevent cherry leaf spot and control of Japanese beetle.

Japanese beetle, Hartman reports, are fairly abundant and cherry slug is present in some orchards. He noted that both can defoliate cherry trees if not controlled. In addition, the county agent warned, the fungus causing leaf spot is active and can cause defoliation if protection against it is not maintained. The post harvest spray, he added, is one of the most important of sprays for the prevention of leaf spot.

The recommended spray is two pounds plus of copper sulphate, six pounds plus of fresh spray lime and two pounds of a 50 per cent DDT wettable powder per 100 gallons of spray.

Hartman also warned that care must be taken in applying the spray because severe leaf injury may occur when the copper is applied if leaves are wet or where fresh aphid honeydew is present.

Paralyzing Floods Tighten Grip On Kansas City Area

Kansas City, July 14 (AP)—Paralyzing flood waters tightened their grip on the Kansas City metropolitan area of 900,000 persons today and threatened new destruction.

A state of emergency was proclaimed.

The nation sent help from coast to coast for the stricken twin cities of Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kas., and the eastern half of the state of Kansas.

Flooded fuel tanks touched off fires that added to the devastation. Three major industrial districts in the Kansas City area were inundated.

More Sections Periled

The surging waters of the Missouri and Kansas rivers threatened two other heavily industrialized sections—North Kansas City and Fairfax. Both districts were evacuated.

Waters from the Missouri river began pouring into the Fairfax district early today.

All non-essential businesses not in the flooded areas were ordered to close.

Floods over Kansas and Missouri during the past week have caused at least 13 deaths. Many persons were missing but because of the thousands of refugees close checks were impossible.

Huge Damage Bill

Maj. Gen. Lewis Pick, chief of the army engineers, who made a hurried trip here from Washington, told reporters damage in Kansas may run over $500,000,000.

"One of the reasons I am here," he said, "is that President Truman asked me to come to see what can be done to restore normal conditions."

City officials ordered stringent safeguards to conserve the water supply and to clear disaster areas for rescue work.

Highway and rail traffic halted. Because of flood waters, the lead for furnishing water to Kansas City, Mo., fell on a single station which is capable of pumping only one-third of the normal city requirements. The city garbage disposal unit was under water, and officials were seeking new means of disposal.

The low water pressure in city mains brought serious fire problems and extra precautions were being taken to safeguard against fires. Firemen fought a fuel tank-farm fire throughout the night in a flooded two-block area. The fire began yesterday. Nine firemen were injured, seven buildings were destroyed and two others damaged. About 20 tanks containing a total of 500,000 gallons of gasoline, diesel oil and naphtha exploded at intervals.

The firemen struggled in shoulder-deep water, in boats and from rooftops to keep the flames from two other nearby tank farms.

The fire was touched off by a floating 6,000-gallon oil tank that struck an electric power line.

TIMES READERS ARE HELPED BY DAN VAN GORDER

"Spindly" asparagus shoots will develop into vigorous plants if properly fed; grass which grows in paths can be destroyed; Bordeaux mixture properly sprayed will prevent black rot in grapes, and roaches can be eliminated if proper means are used.

What to do about these and many other problems constitutes a service rendered by Dan P. Van Gorder, agricultural editor of The Gettysburg Times, to readers of this newspaper. Mr. Van Gorder has recently supplied the answers to the above questions to Times subscribers, and in information to others on a wide variety of farm and garden problems.

One writer asked for information for removing grass in a family plot in an Adams county cemetery. The answer was furnished, together with recommendations for other "cover" for the plot.

Another Times reader wrote: "We have so many ants in our lawn and they are spoiling it. They have the ground bare and are raising big humps, and getting in the shrubbery. I have done everything I know how to do. Can you please tell me something to get rid of the ants?"

Mr. Van Gorder's reply was prompt and to the point. "We are certain that you will find an effective remedy for your ant troubles among the 12 we enclose," he replied. "Write us further whenever we can help you."

These are typical problems which Times readers submit to Mr. Van Gorder daily, and his answer is typical of this free Times service which more and more Adams county residents are finding valuable.

"GOOD SEASON" IN COUNTY FOR CHERRY PICKERS

An almost bumper crop of cherries is providing orchard workers with one of their best picking seasons in several years, a check of various orchards discloses.

Timekeepers said that an average figure, including children, who may pick only a few buckets, to the top hands who have learned from experience how to obtain the most cherries from a tree in the shortest possible time, would be in the "high 30s, possibly even 37 or 38 eight-quart buckets a day."

Judging by the returns made to them, the timekeepers hold that "nearly everyone who is really working is producing 40 or more buckets a day." A quick check of one list of tickets, for Friday, showed a large number of the pickers having secured anywhere from 48 to 55 buckets. The price is 25 cents per bucket.

This year's crop, which will bring hundreds of thousands of dollars into the county, is being compared by growers with the crops of 1937 and 1942, which were excellent years. In 1950, cold, damp weather affected pollination and reduced the size of the harvest, but this year growing conditions have been near ideal, growers said.

While the cherry crop here is excellent, the same conditions seem to obtain in most other sections of the U. S. as well. The National Red Cherry Institute estimated that the total U. S. yield will be 302.3 million pounds as compared to 280.5 million pounds a year ago.

USE BAYONETS BARBED WIRE ON RACE RIOT FRONT

Cicero, Ill., July 14 (AP)—Soldiers' bayonets, barbed wire barricades and roving police squads formed a strong defense line today to maintain peace and order in Cicero's riot front.

No attempts were made to crash the line in the area of the embattled apartment building where a negro family had rented a flat, touching off the disorders.

No negroes live in Cicero, a community of 70,000 west of Chicago.

Police broke up any small groups which formed last night within four blocks of the apartment building which had been stormed by a riotous mob on Thursday night. There also were disorders at the building Tuesday and Wednesday, before arrival of the soldiers.

70 Arrested Overnight

Persons disobeying orders to "keep moving" were picked up and taken to the Cicero police station. About 70 were nabbed during the night. Thirty-nine were charged with unlawful assembly. The others, including 15 youth, were released.

The police station was jammed to overflowing as friends of the arrested persons milled in the small building waiting to put up bond. The lockup room was crowded beyond capacity with prisoners at one time. Sixty of the 72 nabbed Thursday were booked on various charges, including unlawful assembly, assault and inciting to riot.

Although comparative peace settled over the trouble zone, about 200 of the 450 National Guardsmen and police details remained on duty throughout the night. There was no indication that the guardsmen were to be recalled until at least over the week-end.

Moose May Miss District Tourney

The Moose, representatives of the local softball league, may forego participation in the district tournament at York today and Sunday due to being misinformed last week that play would start Friday evening.

Plans were made for the local team to go to York Friday evening and it was not until late Friday morning that it was learned the tournament start had been set back until today.

Due to the change it was doubted if the Moose could round up a squad for a game listed for this afternoon at York.

LIONS TO MEET

Gettysburg Lions will meet at Sheffer's park next Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock. There will be softball and horseshoes and the board of directors will meet after the club session.

Seoul, Korea, July 14 (AP)—Pyongyang radio tonight broadcast a Red acceptance "in principle" of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's ultimatum on renewing cease-fire talks.

The broadcast, as recorded in Tokyo, by Japanese monitors, said the Red top command told Ridgway:

1. "In principle we agree to neutralize Kaesong."
2. "We propose" joint negotiations for insuring safety of delegates.
3. "We agree to admit not more than 20 correspondents" to Kaesong.

But the Reds objected to Ridgway's "one-sided demand."

Ridgway's headquarters said: "There will be no comment until we have received a properly authenticated message."

Sounds Official

The Pyongyang broadcast was recorded by Japanese monitors of Kyodo News Service at 9 p.m. (6 a.m. EST). That was 33 hours after the U. N. commander laid down his terms for renewing armistice talks. The U. N. broke off negotiations Thursday when Chinese guards refused to allow 20 newsmen to continue with a U. N. convoy of which they were an official part.

The Pyongyang broadcast was addressed to Ridgway and signed by the two top Reds in Korea — Gen. Kim Il Sung, North Korean premier, and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, commander of Chinese forces in Korea. As translated from Korean to Japanese to English it read:

Text Of Reply

"We reply to you, July 13 proposal as follows:

"1. In principle we agree to neutralize Kaesong in order to make negotiations develop smoothly.

"2. We propose to take up a joint committee of both parties to discuss definite measures for maintenance of guards and assurance of safety of delegates of both parties during the negotiations.

"3. The U. N. correspondents' problem which caused interruption of the negotiations had nothing to do with the neutrality problem.

"4. The liaison officers who attended the preliminary conference did not have the power to discuss decisive issues like the neutrality problem. The correspondents problem which caused interruption of the negotiations is just a tiny matter.

'Not Justifiable'

"5. So it is not a problem that is crucial enough to cause interruption or rupture of the negotiations. American delegates had taken up this matter at the conference. But the negotiations so far made little headway. Even the schedule (Continued on Page 2)

UNITED NATIONS AND RED FORCES SPAR LIGHTLY

By STAN CARTER

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, July 14 (AP)—United Nations and Red forces sparred lightly today along the 100-mile Korean war front.

In the main ground action, U. N. troops dispersed a Red company northeast of Chorwon on the central front.

Probing patrols maintained light to moderate contact elsewhere. During the lull in fighting, French U. N. forces observed Bastille Day.

72 Air Strikes

The celebration was highlighted by inspection of French ranks and award of the Croix de Guerre to American and French soldiers who fought in the bitter battles of Wonju and Chipyong.

The simple military ceremony lacked the usual sparkle connected with Bastille Day celebrations. But champagne imported from France was served to officers and men after the awards were made.

U. S. Fifth Air Force warplanes threw 72 early-morning strikes at Red airfields and transportation facilities Saturday. They destroyed or damaged nearly 40 vehicles.

Bad Flying Weather

Bad weather reduced air operations during the day and by 6 p.m. only 197 sorties had been flown. Flying through heavy rain and ground-hugging clouds, a flight of four F-80 Shooting Stars bombed railroad tracks east of Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital. Another flight hit rail installations in the Songchon area.

The weekly summary of the Fifth Air Force showed U. N. planes flew 3,352 sorties against the Reds in the week July 7 through July 13. In that period six Russian-made MIG-15 jets were shot down, and five others were damaged. United Nations losses were not revealed.

4 START RIVER TRIP ON RAFT AS EXPERIMENT

New Kensington, Pa., July 14 (AP)—The raft Lethargia will head down river for New Orleans in a day or two, carrying four young people intent on an experiment in "living in small groups."

Two men and two women, strangers before the raft idea came up, will make the 1,300-mile trip. They hope to finish it by October 1.

Guiding spirit of the experiment is Mary Ellen McGrady, 24, of Ann Arbor, Mich., a five-foot, five-blond graduate sociology student at the University of Michigan.

Miss McGrady said the idea of rafting down to New Orleans occurred to her while she was touring England. Back home, she wrote a piece about it in the University of Michigan newspaper, calling for volunteers.

Costs Each $50
"Out of a school of 20,000 students only two were interested in the adventure," said Mary Ellen.

These two are Milton Borden, 30, of New Bedford, Mass., an aeronautical engineer who graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology and is now studying sociology, and Don Brown of Detroit, a forestry student.

The fourth member of the crew is Geraldine Frederica (Gerry) Garcia, a 23-year-old Boston artist, who heard of the plan from a friend and wrote to Mary Ellen, volunteering. Each of the four tossed $50 into the kitty for the trip. Already $150 of the money has been spent.

"We don't have to worry about starving," said Mary Ellen. "The merchants of New Kensington are stocking the raft with all the food it can carry."

No Romance Scheduled

What is this "living in small groups?" Miss McGrady says most people live in towns with thousands of other people around them all the time. She wants to learn: What are reactions when this companionship is reduced? How do people get along when they see the same persons over and over again, day after day?

She refused to dodge a question on the unconventional aspects of two unmarried couples making such a trip.

"We won't have any time for foolishness," she declared. "Romance is a luxury. It would only slow down our journey."

Current Plus Oars
"We're just four buddies—that's all," added Miss Garcia.

The journey won't be too fast. The raft will move with the pace of the current, plus whatever extra speed is given to it by four long oars, called sweeps.

The name of the craft, the Lethargia, the adventurers explain, is derived from the Greek and means "drowsiness." They're using the word in the sense of "slow-moving."

Pyongyang Radio

has not been worked out. Therefore we consider inappropriate to let foreign correspondents come to Kaesong.

"6. We hold a firm stand that all issues should be based upon discussions. Therefore, your one-sided demand is not justifiable. In order to prevent this tiny problem from causing rupture of the negotiations we agree to your proposal to admit not more than 20 foreign correspondents as members accompanying delegates. We have instructed our delegates to offer all facilities necessary to you."

General Ridgway and the U.N. cease-fire delegates were at the Allied "peace camp" in Munsan. U.S. Army officers said their first word of the Pyongyang broadcast came from Tokyo, although army monitors have been tuned since Friday afternoon to Pyongyang and Peiping radio wave lengths awaiting a reply.

Observers Hopeful
The Red broadcast was conciliatory, but avoided a direct acceptance of any of Ridgway's demands. Observers first reactions were hopeful that talks could be resumed soon.

The U.N. commander had sent the Red chiefs a series of flat demands. His message indicated no intent of negotiation or compromise, although he may have had that in mind.

He messaged them: "The assurances which I require are few and simple. They include as primary prerequisites the establishment of an agreed conference area of suitable extent completely free of armed personnel of either side. Each delegation must have complete reciprocity of treatment to include complete and equal freedom of movement to, from and within the agreed conference area and complete and equal freedom at all times in the selection of the personnel in its delegation party to include representatives of the press."

He made three more proposals to implement this—a five-mile neutral zone, guard-free roads, a 150 limit on size of delegations. Then he said: "If you agree to these proposals the present recess can be terminated and the conference resumed without delay and with some expectation of progress."

From the Communist reply as reported by Tokyo, it will take further negotiations to bring the parties into agreement.

Most striking difference of the two viewpoints appeared to be regarding press delegations. The United Nations position was that they should be accepted without question as personnel of the U.N. commander on the theory Ridgway can name anyone he wants.

"OK, But We Don't Like It"
Reds have insisted all along that the opposing sides should first negotiate on when newsmen were to be admitted. They still held to that view Saturday; but the broadcast conceded, in effect, "OK, send them along as part of your delegation but we don't like it."

The Red suggestion to set up a joint committee to discuss "measures for maintenance of guards and assurance of safety of delegates" opened the way to get armed Communists off the highway U.N. representatives drove from their peace camp to Kaesong and to eliminate the Red check-point where Red guards determined who should pass.

It was at this check-point, nine miles from Kaesong, that Communists refused to let 20 newsmen go along with the convoy on Thursday, thus precipitating the crisis.

Guards were posted by the Communists along the highway and in Kaesong itself without consulting the U.N. Full acceptance of Ridgway's demands would put both delegations on a completely even footing, and remove talk of the Reds playing "host."

FIREWORKS COMPLAINT

The Fourth of July was over more than a week ago, and under Pennsylvania law fireworks are banned anyway, but four juveniles were still shooting firecrackers Friday night. Borough police said they received a complaint at 11:30 o'clock that fireworks were creating a disturbance at the high school field. The investigation revealed the four youngsters were guilty.

PLANS HEARINGS ON RED'S BAIL

New York, July 14 (AP)—A federal judge plans marathon court sessions Monday to complete hearings into bail furnished 14 Communists by the Civil Rights Congress, chief bond source for the Red party.

Until the hearings are completed, 14 indicted Reds will remain free in a total of $165,000 bail posted by the congress.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, bowing to a higher court, reinstated the Reds' bail yesterday and ordered their release after they spent two nights in jail.

But he told attorneys for the defendants that he planned to pursue the Monday hearings without further adjournment, going into night session if necessary.

Judge Ryan granted the week-end recess on a defense motion that it needed time to gather evidence against the revocation of the congress' bail.

Meanwhile, two trustees of the Civil Rights Congress bail fund remained in jail here on six months contempt-of-court sentences. Both are expected to seek their release in bail today. The two, mystery writer Dashiell Hammett and W. Alpheus Hunton, were jailed by Judge Ryan last Monday when they refused to answer questions about contributors to the bail fund. Judge Ryan said the identities of bail subscribers might provide clues to the whereabouts of four fugitive convicted Communists.

CONTROLS FIGHT IS CONTINUING

Washington, July 14 (AP)—The battle over economic controls continued today with the administration fighting a rear guard action against a rampaging House coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats.

Although Congress was in recess until Monday, there was no let-up in the administration's drive to stave off defeat.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer took to the air last night to broadcast a warning that inflation will do the nation great harm "unless we keep controls."

In a radio speech (CBS), Sawyer promised that "as soon as controls can be abandoned or alleviated, they will be." But he added: "It is childish to pretend that inflationary pressures are not upon us."

The House version of the bill to extend wage-price-rent controls is expected to be completed by next Thursday. The bill then will go to a House-Senate conference committee for ironing out differences between it and a Senate-passed bill.

"Rain" Opens Tuesday At Totem Pole House

For the third production the Totem Pole Playhouse, near Pine Grove Furnace, will present W. Somerset Maugham's famous play, "Rain," beginning next Tuesday and continuing through Saturday, July 21.

Joan Curtis will be seen as Sadie Thompson, cabaret singer and entertainer, forced by circumstances to wait in Pago Pago for a steamer to take her on to another island. Joan is the protégé of Sam H. Grisman, co-producer of the famed "Tobacco Road." She made her first appearance on stage at the age of six as a dancer. She has appeared in Atlantic City at Convention hall, playing in operettas with Everett Marshall and Michael Barrett. The last few years she has devoted her time to radio.

In the role of Rev. Davidson, missionary in the South Seas, who is determined that he will be the one to bring salvation to the downfallen Sadie, will be Leonard Rosen, leading man for the Totem Pole Playhouse. He got his start in Soldier shows touring Europe from Paris to Vienna during the war. Since then he has been appearing in New York on the stage and doing movie work. He is "Jeeter" in this week's "Green Grow the Lilacs," and had a prominent role in the first Totem Pole play, "Three Men on a Horse."

PA. VFW ENDS CONVENTION

Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—The 32nd annual encampment of the Department of Pennsylvania, Veterans of Foreign Wars, ends today with a two-hour parade down the parkway to Independence Hall.

In yesterday's session, delegates voted a resolution calling for an extension of present rent controls for another year. The veterans also urged additional beds to accommodate ex-soldiers suffering from tuberculosis.

"These beds," a resolution said, "should be provided at the Veterans' Administration hospital at Butler, Pa., where facilities are already available."

Last night, in the drum and bugle band competition, Bland J. Ross, Pennsylvania law firework, lost its open class senior state title to West Shore Post, Wormleysburg, 83.775 to 77.495. In the closed-senior event, Philadelphia's Reilly Raiders defeated Upper Darby's Archer-Eppier Post, 91.825 to 91.11. There were only two groups competing in each of the classes.

12 Hospitalized Vets Can't Vote

Pittsburgh, July 14 (AP)—Twelve war veterans who are patients at the Aspinwall Veterans' hospital are denied the right to vote in the July primary by a state constitutional amendment passed in 1949. This was the ruling of Judges John J. Kennedy and Russell W. Adams yesterday.

The 1949 amendment permits use of absentee ballots by service-disabled veterans only when they are being treated outside their counties. The judges said: "It is unfortunate and we agree that it is discriminatory but neither the constitutional amendment nor the act of 1951 gives us the authority to send to such veterans a military ballot."

The court also rejected the plea of 41 other veterans at Aspinwall with non-service connected disabilities.

PATIENT SUICIDES

Huntingdon, Pa., July 14 (AP)—An 18-year-old inmate of the state institution for defective delinquents there killed himself by hanging last night. Superintendent John D. Pennington identified the youth as John G. Amway, Jr., of Modena, Chester county. Pennington said Amway made a noose from his belt and attached it to an iron bar high on his cell door.

KILLED BY TRUCK

Lansdale, Pa., July 14 (AP)—James M. Robertson, 65, of Lansdale, was struck and killed today by a milk truck in West Point, a few miles east of here. Police quoted Walter R. Fluck, 23, driver of the truck, as saying he fell asleep at the wheel on his truck, and was roused by the thud of the truck hitting Robertson. He said he stopped and looked back and saw Robertson lying in the street.

NURSING SEEKS MORE RECRUITS

Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—Warning that a critical shortage of nurses threatens hospital services throughout eastern Pennsylvania, Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania has appealed to young women in up-state communities to enroll for a nursing career.

In making the appeal, Dr. Marion Fay, dean of the college, asserted that hospitals would have to provide more inducements — comforts, social activities, financial aid, a college atmosphere — to attract nursing candidates.

The hospital of the Woman's Medical college, she revealed, is now offering a number of all-expense scholarships covering the entire three-year training period. In addition, the hospital offers students loans free of interest if repaid within six months after graduation.

A new $650,000 nurses' home, with private rooms for each student nurse, and recreational facilities is now being built on the college's campus. The home will be completed and ready for occupancy shortly after the September class is admitted.

In explaining the shortage of nurses, Dr. Fay said demands of the armed services were draining the hospitals of graduate nursing personnel and, that, at the same time, potential student nurses were being attracted to high-paying jobs in mushrooming defense industry.

The appeal for nursing recruits was directed primarily at the up-state area because many of the best students have come regularly from there over the years, said Dean Fay.

Backs Appropriation For Stricken Kansas

Washington, July 14 (AP)—President Truman today threw the administration's weight behind a move to appropriate $15,000,000 for emergency relief in the flooded Kaw river valley.

The White House announced the President had been in conference overnight with Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) and Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the House Appropriations committee and had asked them for the money.

The Appropriations group had an emergency session scheduled this morning (10:30 a.m. EST) to consider the matter.

The White House announcement also said that Mr. Truman had asked Secretary of Agriculture Brannan to survey the situation and see that necessary food is available, and to provide loans and other assistance for farmers "to help them get started again when the flood waters recede."

WHITE SOX BEAT BOSOX IN RECORD 19-INNING TILT AS YANKS LOSE

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
The never-give-up White Sox have done it again.

Marathon 19-inning winners over the Red Sox in the longest night game in American league history, the "rags to Richards" gang tilters Boston today by .003 in the steamy American league race.

Even the hardest Chicago fans lost hope when Boston broke a 2-2 tie with two runs in the top of the 19th.

You can imagine the wild scene when the White Sox fought back to score three and write a new golden page in their Comiskey park record book at approximately 1:17 a.m. (EST) this summer Saturday morning.

43 Innings In Two Days
The 5-4 victory boosted Chicago up even with Boston in the games behind column but the Red Sox hold that slender edge—620 to 617 in the percentage table.

Nobody who saw this third game of the vital four-game series will forget it. The clubs played a nine inning twilight game Thursday night and followed with a 17-inning struggle, both won by Boston. Then came the 19-inning battle last night for 43 innings in two days.

The 19-inning game tied the National league night high of last September 15 between Cincinnati and Philadelphia. The longest day game, of course, was the 26-inning battle between Boston and Brooklyn in 1920. The American league's daytime record is 24 innings, done twice.

Mickey McDermott pitched the first 17 innings for Boston in a magnificent effort. He gave up two tying runs in the fifth and that was all Harry Taylor who took over in the 18th was charged with the loss although Ray Scarborough had relieved him before the game ended.

Boston forged ahead in the 19th with Clyde Volmer, who homered in the fifth, singling home one run. An error by Nelson Fox let in the second.

But back came those White Sox.

Yanks Lose To Tribe
Floyd Baker opened with a single and Bob Dillinger followed with another single. Fox beat out a punt to fill the bases. Eddie Stewart, batting for Jim Busby, singled to center scoring Baker and Dillinger to make it 4-4.

That was all for Taylor and Scarborough came in. Al Zarilla beat out a punt to the pitcher, loading the bases. Still nobody out. Don Lenhardt's fly to center sent Fox charging home with the winning run.

Cleveland came from behind after spotting New York six runs to win, 11-8, edging up in the hot race. They trail by only 3½ games. Bob Porterfield pitched and batted Washington to a 3-1 margin over Detroit and Duane Pillette of the St. Louis Browns blanked Philadelphia, 5-0.

Phils Beat Pirates
Brooklyn held its 9½ game lead in the National by bopping Chicago, 8-6, for its eighth straight win and the Cub's eighth straight loss. Only difference in the National league standings finds New York back in second place instead of St. Louis after the Giants' 14-4 slaughter of the Cardinals with two grand slam homers by Wes Westrum and Dave Williams.

Cincinnati blanked Boston, 2-0, as Howie Fox stretched his scoreless string to 21 innings. Robin Roberts set down Pittsburgh with two hits for a 3-2 Philadelphia victory.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)

With Hagerstown's Braves continuing its winning ways, interest in the Interstate league centers on the battle for second place with three clubs in contention.

Only two percentage points separate Wilmington and Allentown, with both teams six full games behind league-leading Hagerstown.

Here's how the fight for second place shapes up:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Wilmington	47	30	.610
Allentown	48	31	.608
Lancaster	45	32	.584

Tonight Wilmington tangles with first-place Hagerstown; Allentown plays Harrisburg and Lancaster clashes with Sunbury.

Hagerstown, with a 55-26 record, lengthened its lead last night with a 4 to 0 triumph over sixth-place Harrisburg. Righthander Andy Bush recorded his 14th win; he's lost but once.

Allentown pushed Salisbury deeper into the cellar — now 38 games from the top — with a 3 to 1 victory. The Red Birds didn't clinch the verdict until the ninth inning when they scored twice on three singles, a walk and an outfield fly.

Wilmington, meantime, fell 8 to 2 to Lancaster. Keith Kelley, negro righthander who hurled a no-hit over Wilmington earlier this season limited the losers to five hits.

Sunbury edged York 2-1 in 10 innings. An error by catcher Wayne Crawford with two men on and two out gave Sunbury the win.

Tonight's games: Sunbury at Lancaster, Harrisburg at Allentown, Wilmington at Hagerstown and Salisbury at York.

The Gettysburg Eagles overcame a 6-3 deficit after four innings to defeat Littletown 11-7 in a Mason-Dixon Junior Baseball league game Friday evening under the lights at Littletown.

Heyser and Taughinbaugh permitted the Littletown outfit a total of but three hits. However, eight local misuses contributed heavily to the Littletown total.

Coach Oyle's outfit rapped out 11 hits and stole 15 bases. A three-run ninth inning removed all doubt as to the ultimate outcome.

Chandler 53 As He Gives Up Job

Cincinnati, July 14 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler, on his next-to-last day in office as the game's big boss, said in a statement today: "I leave this office confident that the ball players, the fans and a majority of the club owners feel that I did a good job."

"That I was not voted another 7-year term is one thing—the support of the real people in baseball is the all-important matter. The ball players always had a chance to say their piece during my regime. Their feelings and opinions were given the same consideration as the club owners."

"I made every effort to deal fairly with every problem that confronted baseball. The fans know that. The way they have received me wherever I have gone since my contract was not renewed convinces me of that fact."

"I leave baseball with love in my heart for the game, and, I hope, the feeling among everyone, from fan to magnate, that I did my best. I hope baseball prospers and I wish everyone well who is connected with it."

Chandler celebrated his 53rd birthday today.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 14 (AP)—The summer boxing season, minus radio and television, has been so successful that the IBC is planning to stage a major title fight in the Garden late in August. . . . That always has been the month when "nobody" would promote a fight because the fans were supposed to be vacationing. . . . Mary Jensen, who brought Rex Layne east to absorb a $15,000 clout on the chops Thursday, has another bright prospect who will head this way soon for further ring education. . . . He is Gene Fulmer, a product of Jensen's "West Jordan Boxing club" where Mary provides the facilities and instruction for kids to learn to box and only requires that they go to church regularly. . . . Publicist Herbie Goren, on loan from hockey to boxing for the summer, is getting a reputation as a "jinx." . . . He has handled the training camp drum beating chores for Lee Savold, Jake LaMotta and Layne. . . . So far the Rangers haven't asked waivers on him.

BLANK SPOTS
In a recent Gulf Coast (Class B) league game between Harlingen and Laredo, Tex., Walt Graham of Laredo lined a neat single, which the left fielder took on the first bounce. . . . After rounding first, Walt walked back to the base, then calmly continued right into the dugout. . . . His only explanation: "I just thought the ball was caught." . . . In the very next inning Manager Sam Harshaney of Harlingen claimed he had been hit by a pitched ball. . . . The umpire insisted it was just a foul. . . . Sam took himself out of the lineup and later that evening an examination showed he had a broken thumb. It was too late to change the decision.

SPORTSPOURRI

Bob Heck, former Purdue and Chicago Hornets end, has advised the football Giants that "unexpected circumstances" will prevent his reporting to training camp on time late this month. The circumstances were two gunshot wounds received in three days in Korea. . . . Tickets for Detroit's 250th anniversary 250-mile stock car race will range from $2.50 and $5 for general admission to $12 each for box seats. . . . And it's the same sort of stuff Detroiters can see for free on Woodward or Grand River any rush hour. . . . Couple of expert observers, Capt. George Sisler, Jr., and Capt. Walter Charlesworth, agree that two years ago Bob Cerv's was so weak he couldn't throw across the street. Now Bob has a good arm as well as a great batting average for Kansas City and may be promoted to the Yankees any day.

New York, July 14 (AP)—The famed Brooklyn handicap, inaugurated at the old Gravesend track in 1887, will have its 63rd running today at Aqueduct with a dozen classy horses in the tough mile and one quarter grind.

With most of the leading handicap stars in the east named for the race, a wide open scramble looms for the rich purse. If all 12 start the race will gross $58,600 with $40,500 to the winner.

Inglewood, Calif., July 14 (AP) — Hollywood Park stages its 12th running of the $100,000 Gold Cup handicap today and the classic shapes up as a rich benefit for Citation and his bid to become a million dollar champion.

Ten candidates were scheduled to hit the mile and one-quarter trail, and it appeared that nothing short of a tremendous upset would keep Citation from collecting the guaranteed net of $100,000 and stretching his all-time earnings well past the $1,000,000 mark.

Milwaukee, July 14 (AP) — A collegiate and a 35-year-old tourney tested veteran met today for the 26th National Public Links championship.

Survivors of the starting field of 210 were 20-year-old Dave Stanley of Los Angeles, a junior at UCLA making his first start in the FEE course classic, and Ralph J. Vranesic of Denver who has reached the quarter-finals four times. They won their way into the title match yesterday in 37-hole matches, the first time in the American golf that both semi-finals of a national tournament have gone into overtime.

Today's Talk
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Nature is our great text book. If we will study it faithfully we will learn more about the mysteries and wonders of life than any other source. There are perhaps no philosophers, no doctors or scientists among those of wild nature, but there are virtues there. There are leaders, too. And when an animal or bird is in trouble I have seen others of its kind come to its aid.

There is striving in nature. All are on their own. Each is a specialist, and so lives out his life apparently happy without worry. And note how play enters into the life of our friends in the outdoor world. They take time off for it, and our birds emphasize their happiness in song morning and night.

Very early after birth do the inhabitants of nature teach their young to be independent and self-supporting. There is striving among both young and old, and it is continuous as a program of life. The Creator made all the living ones in nature self-protective. He did the same with us humans, but we get careless and forgetful—and then there are penalties.

There are secret powers within us all, about which we know nothing until we have explored within ourselves. Constant striving, day by day, opens up new visions and new avenues of approach and we are stimulated to go just a little farther than we ever have before. There are always surprises ahead, too! Faithful striving toward a worthy objective always brings its merited reward.

It has been this constant striving on the part of people of faith that has given us all the progress and comforts that we enjoy today. And no one can predict the future. No one ever has. There have been only guesses. It was constant striving that finally produced television, and what its future impact upon society is to be, no one can say. We do know that it has possibilities that are not yet revealed.

Many of us are tempted to give up on something that has engaged our time for a long period. At such a time we should bear in mind the names of those who did not give up, who went right ahead, never doubting but what the end would be one of triumph.

Several requests have already been received for entry blank for the show according to the general chairman. Capt. Woodring has served as the general chairman each year since the beginning and much of the success of the former horse shows at Emmitsburg has been attributed to his ability to handle the affair. Mr. Woodring is a horseman and has had a great deal of experience in the horse show business. The location of this year's show has not been announced but it is almost certain that a new location will be used this year due to the damage done to the Community ball field by holding the show on it last year.

THINKS TRUMAN
ACTED TOO LATE FOR RESULTS ON CONTROLS ISSUE

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, July 14 (AP)—I had an old Irish aunt who used to say of people who acted too late: "It was after he stumbled he wakened."

The Truman administration is pretty late trying to rouse the people to pressure Congress into keeping strong economic controls.

In fact, the administration's whole history in this field has been that of a Johnny-come-lately.

It was pretty clear last summer we were in for inflation, after the Korean war began and the defense program was started. Even Congress, which is usually chilly on controls, thought so and by September handed President Truman power to control prices, wages, materials and so on.

Undisturbed Then
Mr. Truman seemed undisturbed about the inflation danger and it wasn't until late in November, which was after the November elections, that he appointed Michael DiSalle boss of OPS, the Office of Price Stabilization.

By then prices were rising steadily. But since setting up the control machinery takes time, it was late January before the government was able to slap controls on prices and wages.

When it handed Mr. Truman the control powers in September, Congress said they'd end June 30, 1951, unless before then Congress decided they were still needed. This was plenty of notice of danger ahead.

February passed, March, too. And Congress was going to need time for hearings on which to decide about keeping controls beyond June 30.

Pressure Groups Busy
It wasn't until April that Mr. Truman asked to keep the controls two years longer and he requested stronger ones.

By this time the special groups which had been hit by controls and didn't like them were tugging on congressmen's coat lapels, urging the controls be wiped out or at least softened.

This was especially true of the cattlemen who were inflamed by OPS' plan to roll back beef prices, although OPS said the rollbacks were a vital necessity in any attempt to keep down inflation.

At first, the cattlemen's protest didn't seem to make much impression. But the wind shifted and it became clear they were having a lot of influence in the capitol.

Feeble Response
By mid-June the mood of Congress was beginning to show itself: (1) Not to continue the controls for two years, as Mr. Truman asked; and (2) not only not give him stronger controls but weaken those he had.

Mr. Truman must have begun to realize the rug was being pulled out from under him. He made a major effort to regain lost ground by a broadcast to the people on June 14, or 16 days before the June 30 deadline.

He appealed to the people to urge their congressmen to give Mr. Truman the controls he asked, although Thursday he told his news conference he had never done so. The response must have been pretty feeble. Congress' mood didn't change.

When the June 30 deadline approached and it still hadn't reached a decision, Congress voted to keep the old controls another 31 days. We're running through those 31 days now.

Meanwhile, the Senate made up its mind: it voted to keep controls only another eight months more, but weaker ones. Now the House is voting, apparently determined to weaken them even more.

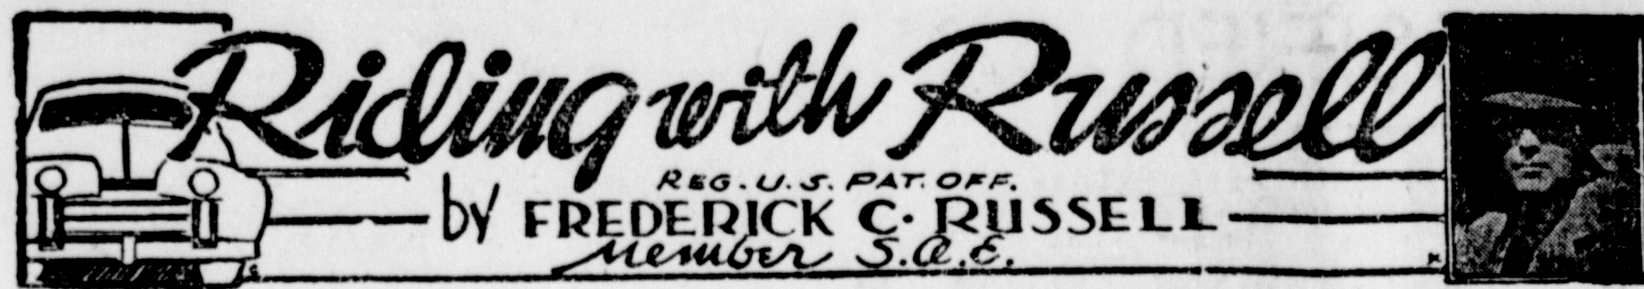

At this very last moment, seeing their whole program in danger of being shot to pieces, the administration people have started to appeal to the people again to pressure Congress.

For instance, Eric Johnston, head of the Economic Stabilization Agency, is storming around for public support. And Charles E. Wilson, boss of mobilization, made a similar appeal this week. This last minute try isn't likely to change Congress' mind much.

RADAR FOR PORT
Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—An engineering survey of the port of Philadelphia is being made with a view to installing a radar system for navigators, says Harry G. Schadt, president of the Maritime Exchange.

Schadt says the system will enable pilots of ships coming into the harbor to navigate in the same way that airplane pilots steer when they are flying blind. The radar net, he adds, will extend from the Delaware breakwater up as far as local piers.

The best thing to take when another driver has run into your car is his license number.

Wax Rates Analyzed
When you hear that your friend Jones got a wax job on his car for $12 while you had to pay $17, don't jump to the conclusion that he got the better deal. Of course there are all kinds of wax jobs, ranging from back alley work to the sort that definitely puts on the Ritz, but it is customary in shops which specialize on this sort of work to have a regular schedule which varies in price depending on the type of car and its classification. Some convertibles are easier to wax than some sedans, but there are some expensive convertibles which have so much trim that more time is required for a good waxing than for an average coupe or sedan.

Then there is a considerable difference in the actual body area of cars of the same body style. So much difference, in fact, that the same quality waxing varies $5.00 in one schedule of rates rather widely used. In addition, extra charges are made for extra cleaning or where road tar must be removed and when the chrome trim is in bad condition.

Pinch Hitting Gauges
If the motor temperature gauge has gone bad there are other ways to keep a check on the engine's well-being. One is to keep an eye on the oil pressure gauge. Should pressure drop you can be sure the engine is heating up, this often being a warning also that the oil supply is too low. Or the oil in the crankcase may be the wrong grade. In your reasoning, however, don't forget to consider the fact that any of the conditions which cause overheating will also tend to burn off the oil regardless of its grade or quality.

The idea that the car isn't out of gas, just because fuel can be seen in the glass bowl of the fuel filter, is one of the pitfalls to avoid when trying to figure out why the engine has stalled and refused to re-start. Because gasoline enters the filter at the top, and leaves at the top, there always is gasoline (plus some water and sediment) in the bowl.

Misalignment between the engine, clutch and transmission always is rough on the clutch hub, causing the plate to be constantly twisted. The plate then is forced to act somewhat like a universal joint, but with damage to the clutch hub as a likely result.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:
"Failure of the engine to provide normal pickup is usually due to need for rebuilding the carburetor's acceleration pump. But if there also is lack of power on hills, engine cold or hot, we are reasonably certain that the trouble is due to insufficient fuel lines, low float level or to a clogged screen in the carburetor. Moreover loss of power with a hot engine could be due to insufficient valve tappet clearance, provided there also is "missing." Loss of power without "missing" hints of vapor lock — that odd fuel condition wherein gasoline goes into vapor form in the lines and blocks its own flow.

Just because the engine is pinging is no reason to assume that there is nothing to do but accept it or have the carbon removed. Do not set the ignition timing back but make a special effort to lower the engine's operating temperature, and of course use the gas with the highest available octane rating. Avoid an over-lean mixture, or one that is too rich. Cut down on acceleration, and avoid overloading the car. Don't let the tires become underinflated. Be more careful in the selection of engine oil, and keep up the oil level. Use lower gears more often on steep hills.

Tip On Gas Mileage
It has taken considerable experience to convince some motorists that high gas consumption can follow use of an excessively lean mixture, just as in the case of an over-rich mixture. An engine labors on any mixture that isn't normal. This means that the lower gears are used more often and that a wider throttle is required in high gear. Much of the waste with a too lean mixture is the longer period needed for the warm-up.

Sometimes clutch trouble is a gentle hint that something more serious may be wrong with the car. A friend of mine discovered that the chattering and rasping when starting off and while shifting into low was due to general damage to gears and bearings from a chipped gear tooth.

Not What It Seems
If the car rides like it has a broken spring, but if there is no evidence whatever of any such breakage, the chances are that there is a bad shackle. If the shackle is of metal the "freezing" can be eliminated by a good greasing with some penetrating oil applied externally. A rubber shackle probably will need to be replaced, but before doing so try an application of special rubber lubricant. Brake fluid is all right for this purpose. Don't use petroleum lube.

It is odd but true that the more experience we have as overseers of our cars the more we are inclined to overlook little things that are basic. I was reminded of this by a letter from a reader who noted smell of gasoline whenever he switched off the engine. Having had other carburetor trouble he was inclined to take this latest situation as a hint of something mysterious. Actually the leakage simply meant that the needle valve didn't seat properly. Some of the fuel, still under pressure in the feed line from the pump, entered the idle carburetor and overflowed. It was as simple as that.

Need A Brake Tune-up?
Here are a few of the important things to consider when having the brakes checked over and tuned up: Remove the drums and clean them in gasoline. Inspect brake shoes and relines or replace them if worn or greasy. Clean all brake parts externally before draining the lines and flushing with alcohol or special fluids sold for this purpose. After refilling the lines with new fluid bleed any air that may still be in the system. Don't replace the drums and shoes, adjusting the latter carefully. Don't forget to inspect the master cylinder for any signs of scoring or corrosion.

In The Motor Mail
Q. What would cause the oil level to rise in the rear axle of my car? I let the excess drain off but the level continues to rise. J.H.G.
A. Lubricant is leaking from the transmission and is running down the propeller shaft tube.

Q. How many relays are needed in the lighting system of my car? The dimmer switch drops the light beam of only one of the lights. Wm. L.L.
A. These lights are known as symmetrical. In this case, oddly enough, you need two relays. Where both lights drop their rays, only one relay is required.

Q. There seems to be what I might call a surging action of the brakes whenever I am slowing down the car. I do not get this, however, if I brake the car abruptly or during the last stages of an ordinary stop. H. H.
A. I think the engine is the cause of this action. Check it for uneven running with a closed throttle.

Q. There is a very definite humming sound in the rear of my car when the engine is pulling. I am sure it isn't a tire noise or vibration in the exhaust system. I do not hear the noise when the car is rolling along easily or when decelerating. J. L. D.
A. This calls for a readjustment of the pinion and ring gears. There's too much backlash.

Q. When I returned home last night the ammeter was showing no charge at all. However, the engine ran well and I found the lights adequate. The generator belt is all right. J. L. C.
A. I think you will find that the generator out-put points are stuck in the open position. On your car these points are part of the voltage and current regulator unit.

Q. There is a most annoying popping in the exhaust system of my car when going downhill. I have checked the mixture, and also the spark plugs. I have also used special solvents in which the oil on the theory that there might be a sticky valve. H. J. J. Jr.
A. How about checking for weak valve springs?

Q. The automatic heat control of the engine is stuck. However, there is no binding. Any explanation for this? K. R. McB.
A. You'll find that the counter-weight lever is loose on the shaft. Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him care of the Gettysburg Times and enclose stamped, self-address envelope for a personal reply. Please confine inquiries to one subject and limit letters to 100 words or less.

Littlestown SCOUT TROOP 84 GOES CAMPING AT NATURAL DAM

Members of Littlestown Boy Scout Troop No. 84 left town this morning at 8:30 o'clock for the annual camp to be conducted next week at Natural Dam. The camp will be carried on in much the same way as in previous years. The cost this year is $5 per scout and this includes insurance on each boy. Three well balanced meals will be served to the scouts daily by the cook, Ray Studt, who has served them in the past.

The adult leaders will be Scoutmaster Edgar A. Wolfe, Assistant Scoutmaster Edward B. Geman, Glenn Duttrier and several of the older scouts from the Explorer Post. Sunday school and church worship services will be held as usual. Thursday will be set aside as visitors' day and parents are asked not to come to the camp at any other time except the first Sunday to see that their boys have proper provisions for the week. On Thursday evening the scouts will have a special program arranged to entertain their parents and friends. When entering the camp that evening the visitors should come across the foot bridge as the old paths and roads are not in good condition.

The following equipment had to be provided by each boy attending camp: Extra camp clothing, extra shoes and stockings, extra underwear and shirts, sweater, bathing trunks, two heavy blankets or bedroll, pajamas, two towels, washcloth, soap, overalls, poncho or raincoat, scout suit, scout handbook, paper and pencil, toothbrush, other toilet articles, camera, flashlight, scout knife (no sheath knives), mess kit or dishes, dinner knife, fork, spoon, cup, and everything was placed in a wood or steel box with a lid on it. No air rifles are allowed at the camp. The boys expect to return about noon on Saturday, July 21.

The next regular meeting of Troop No. 84 will be held Wednesday evening, July 25, at 7:30 o'clock in the basement of the Littlestown State bank building. A canoeing trip will be taken soon after the close of camp and those scouts wishing to go should contact Richard Harner.

A special meeting of the Littlestown Girl Scouts, the Brownies and all troop leaders, will be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Alpha engine house. The Brownie troop leaders are Mrs. John C. Forry, Mrs. Leonard Kershner, Mrs. Charles H. Fissel, Intermediate troop leaders: Miss Mary Rita Redding, Mrs. LeRoy Helwig, Mrs. Malcolm I. Heiser and Mrs. Harold Angstead; senior leader, Mrs. Carroll E. Arter.

Plan District Meeting
"A Cup of Cold Water" will be the theme of the sermon to be delivered by the Rev. G. Howard Koons, pastor of Christ Evangelical and Reformed church, at the Union vesper service on Sunday evening. The service will be held at 7 o'clock that evening in the pavilion at Crouse Park, in case of inclement weather the vesper will be held in Redeemer's Reformed church. An anthem will be sung by the Christ church choir. These services are being conducted by the Littlestown Ministerium.

Plans where discussed for the quarterly meeting of the 21st District of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to be held in Littlestown in September at the semi-monthly

Few Servicemen
Ask Voting Right
Harrisburg, July 1 (AP) — Only 219 servicemen have asked the state Elections bureau to take advantage of a special 1951 law to give them the right to an absentee ballot in the July 24 primary election.

The bureau said today the applications were in the form of post cards. Applications for such ballots by relatives or friends in behalf of the men in the service are sent to their respective home counties and would swell the 219 total.

There was no comment forthcoming from the bureau on the disappointing number of soldier vote applications except to concede that the requests were "comparatively light."

The peak of military ballots in World War II was 260,000 for the 1944 presidential election. There were an estimated 11,000,000 Pennsylvanians in the armed forces.

Washington, July 14 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson's stand for a Korean armistice on the basis of present battle lines got a mixed reception among lawmakers today.

Acheson told a news conference yesterday he feels the truce should be based on the fighting front as it now exists and indicated he did not favor withdrawal to the pre-war dividing line of the 38th parallel.

Pittsburgh, July 14 (AP)—The United Electrical Worker Union (independent) has accepted a nine-cent hourly raise from Westinghouse Electric Corp. The increase, which goes to about 16,000 workers, is the same approved earlier by 50,000 members of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and the AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers employed by Westinghouse.

Largest of the Egyptian pyramids has an estimated weight of five million tons.

What Makes BUTTER Fly?

My folks seem to think that some of the questions I ask are simply out of this world, but, they're not so funny. Just the other day, I was wondering why in the dickens they don't replace some of that beat up, old bedroom furniture. Not many visitors see it, but it's not very nice to live with, and not too comfortable, either. The thing that makes me wonder is the fact that I've heard some of their friends talk about how economical it is to shop for furniture at R. W. Wentz and Sons Furniture Store. . . . If they don't go there soon, I think I'll check on the piggy bank and call 415 for an estimate!
